Steve:

I think we made it clear, that if our clients' claims were fully protected they would be pleased to be included. We suggested editorial suggestions which, we believe, accomplish that goal. Your e-mail does not address those suggestions. Our clients do not intend to drop their cases or their claim and neither you nor any of the interim class counsel are authorized to do so. Nor do our clients intend to have the classes they alleged be unrepresented. If they and their claims are not included in the complaint that interim class counsel are going to file, then we will ask the Court for permission to file a complaint which does preserve those claims. I hope that application will not be necessary....FTI our complaint is due in a few hours and you never really answered our questions regarding if you wanted to list your clients on the complaint. We received your editorial suggestions which we reviewed but no answer to the question we asked and which Guido asked last week , Having received no direction to do so they will not be
